1. Preamble

Health extends beyond the mere absence of disease; it represents an integrated state of wellbeing, encompassing physical, social, and mental dimensions. Consequently, people’s health is influenced by a complex interplay of biological, social and environmental determinants, as well as factors related to the accessibility and quality of health systems.

This broader perspective highlights the importance of addressing health considering multiple factors and across different stages. In this sense, while treatment plays a key role in managing disease, it is also crucial to invest efforts at earlier stages. Health interventions aimed at preventing the onset of disease and promoting health can significantly contribute to safeguarding population health before the onset of illness.

To pave the way towards a preventive and health-promoting model of healthcare, it is essential to generate robust scientific evidence on how health interventions are designed and delivered to individuals and communities, and to evaluate their effectiveness and implications in people’s lives. This objective can be more effectively accomplished through the collaboration across the various sectors and stakeholders involved in healthcare systems, from primary care providers to specialized care professionals or health systems administrators.

The "la Caixa" Banking Foundation (hereinafter, "la Caixa" Foundation) is firmly committed to supporting solid health research and promoting equitable social progress. To move forward in these objectives, the "la Caixa" Foundation launches an open call to support research projects that aim to deepen our understanding of healthcare Interventions in health Promotion and disease prevention in Spain and Portugal. The ultimate objective of the Call is to improve people’s health and wellbeing at all stages of life.

3. General framework of the Call

The primary aim of this Call is to fund research that advances the design and evaluation of healthcare Interventions in health Promotion and disease prevention.

Proposals should:

- » take an applied approach to real-world health issues;
- » employ rigorous, validated methodologies aligned with the nature and scale of the proposed Intervention and evaluation;
- » integrate, when relevant, perspectives from multiple research disciplines and professionals such as nurses, clinicians, methodologists, statisticians, psychologists, dietitians, physiotherapists, health system researchers and administrators, social workers, public health professionals, etc.
- » show a clear pathway to scalability.

The "la Caixa" Foundation seeks to support research projects with strong potential for social impact. Areas of interest include, but are not limited to, the following: mental health; women's health; child and adolescent health; nutrition and healthy lifestyles; healthy ageing; and management of chronic conditions.

Proposals eligible for this Call must be led by: (i) non-profit Research Performing Organizations based in Spain or Portugal; or (ii) non-profit foreign Research Performing Organizations whose research activities are carried out through a permanent establishment or permanent representation based in Spain or Portugal.

For the sake of clarity, in the event a grant is awarded to an entity as described in (ii) above: (a) the grant shall be allocated to and used by entities and staff located in Spain or Portugal; and (b) the Agreement shall be also signed by the permanent establishment or permanent representation of the foreign Research Performing Organizations that is in Spain or Portugal.

The selected Proposal Category determines the selection committee in which the proposal will be evaluated.

Proposals must be submitted in one of the following three Proposal Categories:

- » Pilot studies: research proposals consisting of small-scale preliminary studies on health Interventions, aimed at evaluating the feasibility and appropriateness of a larger-scale Intervention.
- » Retrospective evaluations: research proposals that evaluate the effectiveness and impact of existing health Interventions using appropriate and validated non-experimental retrospective methods.
- » New Interventions: research proposals that develop and evaluate new health Interventions using appropriate and validated experimental and quasi experimental methods.

All proposals, regardless of category, should have a clear and explicit focus on disease prevention or health Promotion. The Interventions designed and/or evaluated in the proposals must be carried out in Spain or Portugal and must directly target peoples' health.

The following proposals will not be considered eligible under this Call:

- » Interventions in which the primary objective is not health-related—where health outcomes are assessed as a secondary effect of an Intervention with a different primary focus.
- » Observational studies or any proposals that do not involve an Intervention and/or its evaluation.
- » Proposals focused on the development or validation of medical devices or pharmacological products (including clinical trials at any phase).
- » Proposals aimed at evaluating public policies or communication campaigns.

Furthermore, any Proposal that is not properly assigned to the appropriate Proposal Category may be discarded by "la Caixa" Foundation, at any stage of the selection process.

The Projects shall have a duration of up to 2 years, in the case of pilot studies and retrospective evaluations, and up to 3 years, in the case of novel Interventions. One non-cost extension request for up to 12 months, and made at least 3 months in advance of the end of the Project's term, will be considered only for proposals in the "Novel Interventions" Proposal Category. Extensions related to illness, maternity/paternity leaves or family care special needs will be considered. Any such request shall be sent to "la Caixa" Foundation and shall include a justification on the need and plans for the extension time, together with a statement on the sufficiency of the available funds. The "la Caixa" foundation reserves the right to accept or not the extension request. In any case, express written approval of the request by "la Caixa" Foundation will be required.

The Projects may be carried out as Single or Research Consortium Projects, as defined in section 0.

- » Single Projects are carried out by a sole Research Performing Organization (RPO) i.e. the Host Institution.
- » Research Consortium Projects are carried out by a Research Consortium.

For the sake of clarity, the fact that the proposal is submitted as a Single Project or as a Research Consortium Project will not, in any case, be a selection criterion during the evaluation process.

The Projects will be coordinated by the Host Organization. Additionally, both Single Projects and Research Consortium Projects may also include Civil Society Organizations as described in section 0. A maximum of three Civil Society Organizations per proposal are permitted.

The PL and, by extension, the Host Organization are responsible before the "la Caixa" Foundation for the content and outcome of the Project, including any documentation and information related to it, without prejudice to the methods used for its development (e.g. Artificial Intelligence tools). In this sense, the PL and Host Organization guarantee: (i) compliance with all applicable regulations; (ii) non-infringement of third-party rights; and (iii) application of best ethical practices. Likewise, and within the framework of this Call, the PL and the Host Organization exempt "la Caixa" Foundation from any liability before third parties arising from any failure to comply with the foregoing.

4. Funding

A total budget of up to €2,500,000* is available to support all selected Projects (this budget does not include the additional contributions related to the collaboration described in item 4.2 below). The final distribution will always depend on the quality and specific characteristics of the proposals submitted to this Call. If applicable, the budget could be redistributed among Project Categories based on the selection committee's recommendation.

The amount of the grants that can be requested per Project is detailed below:

- » Pilot studies can request a grant for up to €80,000 to be executed in a maximum period of 2 years.

4.3

The grant will be awarded to the Host Organization, which will be responsible for distributing the budget to the other Partner Organizations, as detailed in the proposal submitted to this Call.

4.4

The grant will be distributed in three installments. Each payment will be made within sixty (60) days from receipt of the corresponding payment request which shall be submitted by the Host Organization in accordance with the following schedule:

- » a first payment for a maximum of 40% of the grant following signing of the Agreement;

- » a third payment corresponding to the remainder of the grant, after validation of the end of grant report.

When preparing the budget, the following criteria and requirements must be taken into account:

- a) In the case of Research Consortium Projects, all Partner Organizations related to the Project must carry out activities to be part of the Research Consortium. All Research Performing Organizations and Partner Organization must have an allocated budget. Having an allocated budget is not mandatory for Civil Society Organizations, however, their participation in the proposal must be justified.
- b) For-profit entities (including companies) cannot be partners in consortiums. This type of entity can only receive Project funds if they are subcontracted by a Research Performing Organization.
- c) The sum of the budgets of all the Partner Organizations performing activities for the Project that are not located in Spain or Portugal, cannot exceed 30% of the total Project budget. In any case, the Interventions must be applied in Spain and/or Portugal.

The grant will cover costs related to the Project provided they are adequately justified, technically adapted to the needs of the Project and always in accordance with the policies of the Partner Organizations. The proposal budget may include expenses in the following concepts:

a) Direct costs:

- » Personnel
- » Travel
- » Equipment
- » Consumables
- » Publications
- » Dissemination and social engagement activities
- » Other direct costs

b) Indirect costs (overheads): A maximum of 10% per Partner Organization of the direct costs of the grant budget: $\text{Indirect costs}_{\text{max}} = 0.1 \times \text{Direct Costs}$.

Not applicable to proposals in the Pilot Studies of the Proposal Categories.

c) Subcontracting.

The correct allocation of the budget, according to the activities to be developed in the Project, will be evaluated during the selection process.

5. Application criteria

The Host Organization must be a Research Performing Organization (in accordance with the definition set forth in sections 0 and 3.2). For the sake of clarity, entities based in a country other than Spain or Portugal, together with their permanent establishment or permanent representation based in Spain or Portugal (as provided in section 3.2), shall be considered as a single entity for the purposes of this Call. Therefore, they will not be able to form a consortium among themselves.

the grant. The PL may also be legally linked to private foundations or non-profit organizations through which the research activities of the Host Organization are carried out or managed, in accordance with the current legislation.

The Project Leader needs the agreement of the Host Organization to be able to submit the proposal. This will be done through an online acceptance by the Organization Manager of the Host Organization via the online system. For Research Consortia or Single Projects with CSOs, all partners must provide their acceptance through the above-mentioned online system to be able to submit the proposal. All required acceptances must be completed before the submission deadline (as set forth in point 6.9).

The Organization Manager will have access to the information of the proposals, including the evaluation reports, and will be responsible for providing and validating the information corresponding to the Host Organization.

The Host Organization must be willing to support the PL, the Team Members and the Research Consortium, if necessary, throughout the Project's term and provide the appropriate scientific and administrative environment to carry out the Project.

The following compliance requirements apply, among others, to all legal and natural persons required to carry out the Project as specified below:

1. All the Participant Organizations and Team Members of the Project must follow the highest ethical principles and highest standards of integrity in research and scientific best practices, as described in the Code of Conduct for the integrity of the research-ALLEA, as well as the highest ethical principles recognized under Spanish, Portuguese, European and/or international regulations in relation to respect for human dignity and experimentation (e.g. including, but not limited to, the International Ethical Guidelines for Health-related Research Involving Humans published by the Council for International Organizations of Medical Sciences – CIOMS, the World Medical Association Declaration of Helsinki: ethical principles for medical research involving human subjects, and the Universal Declaration on the Bioethics and Human Rights, among others) free will, data protection, animal welfare and preservation of the environment.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, the "la Caixa" Foundation reserves the right to review cases of serious misconduct (see point 5.16.3 above) and to impose such restrictions on sanctioned individuals as it considers appropriate.

The Participant Organization must immediately notify to "la Caixa" Foundation the imposition of any such sanctions that may arise during the execution of the awarded Project.

Failure to comply with any of the requirements established in this section may be grounds for revocation of the grant, and the "la Caixa" Foundation may reclaim the amounts disbursed for the development of the Project.

In addition to the above, the implementation of a regulatory compliance system by Host Organizations with more than 50 employees will be positively valued by "la Caixa" Foundation, although it will not be a mandatory requirement for application.

In the event that a selected Project waives the grant, it will be offered to applicants in the reserve list in the corresponding order (see 9.1).

The Projects must follow the internal rules of their organizations regarding the requirements of their ethics committees. Approval of the corresponding ethics committees must be obtained before starting the Project.

11. Considerations for Project implementation

The "la Caixa" Foundation fosters the principles of Responsible Research and Innovation (RRI). These principles take into account gender equality in research and innovation (R&I), as well as other inclusion issues, open access to scientific results, ethics and research integrity and the engagement of social stakeholders in the design and implementation of R&I.

The selected Projects must comply with the "la Caixa" Foundation's principles of responsible research and innovation, the "la Caixa" Foundation's Research Integrity Policy, the research results management and open access policy of the "la Caixa" Foundation and any other policies applicable to research projects receiving support from the "la Caixa" Foundation, as published on its website (Responsibility principles - CaixaResearch). All results derived from the Project must be made available following the parameters described therein, except when justified circumstances exist.

The Participant Organizations and Team Members of the Project must follow the highest ethical principles and standards of integrity in research and scientific best practices as described in section 5.16, throughout the implementation of the Project.

Cases of scientific misconduct that may arise throughout the execution of the awarded Project (even if it is prior to the grant award) or even following its completion must be communicated immediately by the Organization to the "la Caixa" Foundation. In the event that the Organization is subject to the application of transparency and/or the information regarding the improper scientific conduct is protected by such regulation, the Organization undertakes to obtain the consent of the persons involved in said case (e.g. Project Leader, Project team members, among others) to be able to inform "la Caixa" Foundation. The "la Caixa" Foundation reserves the right to cancel or claim reimbursement of the grant depending on the nature and impact of the incident in question, or in the event that the Organization does not or cannot provide the information required by "la Caixa" Foundation regarding the case of improper scientific conduct.

If a PL, Partner and/or Team Member who is eligible to apply for the Call (see 5.16.4) has been sanctioned for scientific misconducts, the "la Caixa" Foundation may:

- » Require the Organisation to monitor the sanctioned person regarding his/her management of the Team Members, especially the pre-doctoral researchers who participate in the Project, and his/her participation in the Project.
- » Require the Organization to provide training in good research practices, to those who have been sanctioned.

If human genotype and/or phenotype outputs are generated in the framework of the Project, the Organization is invited to deposit them as a priority in the European Genome-phenome Archive (EGA) <https://ega-archive.org/> repository.

The "la Caixa" Foundation will be entitled, but not obligated, to offer post-award support and initiatives such as mentoring, consultancy or training in fields relevant to research including, without limitation, innovation, clinical assessment, dissemination of results, output management and networking.

The "la Caixa" Foundation may communicate to suppliers involved in any such post-award initiatives any relevant information about the organization and/or the Project and/or the Project's team. The "la Caixa" Foundation may receive feedback about the Project from any such suppliers throughout and at the end of the initiatives.

Participation in any such initiatives is highly encouraged, and may entail contact with other Project teams and/or with the above-mentioned suppliers.

The Partner Organization(s) may obtain additional sources of financing for the development of the Project and/or for matters related to or involving the Project, provided that such sources do not over-finance the Project.

In this sense, the Organization(s) may obtain financing for the Project and/or for matters related to or involving the Project through patronage or sponsorship agreements. The agreements the Partner Organization(s) may enter with third parties must be consistent with and respect the Agreement and the Rules for Participation.

Additionally, the funds may also be obtained, at the sole discretion of the Partner Organization(s), through financing mechanisms applicable to R+D+i projects that allow channeling private investment to the research field (hereinafter, "Tax Equity Mechanisms"), such as "agrupaciones de interés económico", to which the Partner Organization(s) may license the rights to the Project, provided that:

- i. the Tax Equity Mechanisms are created in accordance and compliance with applicable regulations (e.g. Law 12/1991, of April 29, on Economic Interest Groupings or any other regulation that replaces or complements it) and follow the accepted practice set forth by the State Tax Administration Agency – AEAT (Agencia Estatal de Administración Tributaria);
- ii. the creation of the Tax Equity Mechanism does not imply that the Organization(s) disassociates itself from the development of the Project and its results and, therefore, it remains responsible and liable for its execution, retains control over the rights to exploit the results. In the event that the rights to the Project are licensed due to the creation of the Tax Equity Mechanism, the Partner Organization(s) undertakes to include in the corresponding license agreement the recovery of all rights to the results derived from the Project upon its completion;

- iii. the agreements the Partner Organization(s) may enter with third parties in relation to the creation of the Tax Equity Mechanism must be consistent with and respect the Agreement and the Rules for Participation. In this sense, the Partner Organization(s) undertakes to protect, in the agreement it signs with third parties involved in the creation of these Tax Equity Mechanisms, the commitments agreed in the Agreement, the Rules for Participation, and in particular the rights of information, audit and dissemination reserved by the "la Caixa" Foundation. Likewise, the Partner Organization(s) must have the capacity to supervise the third parties involved in the Tax Equity Mechanism and undertakes, prior to the creation of the Tax Equity Mechanism, to analyze the suitability and full compliance with the principles and criteria established in the Code of Ethics and Business Principles of the "la Caixa" Foundation of all natural and legal persons (directly or indirectly) interested in participating as partners or participants in the Tax Equity Mechanism.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Partner Organization(s) must previously notify "la Caixa" Foundation of its desire to collaborate with the corresponding third parties. In no event shall the notification to the "la Caixa" Foundation be construed as an act of approval/authorization with respect to the Partner Organization(s) decision to implement a Tax Equity Mechanism to obtain additional sources of funding.

Nevertheless, the "la Caixa" Foundation shall be entitled to either (i) oppose to the implementation of the Tax Equity Mechanism in the event it deems there are justified reasons to do so; or (ii) request the revocation of the grant and to reclaim the amounts disbursed for the development of the Project.

In any case, the Host Organization(s) shall remain the sole beneficiary of the grant awarded by the "la Caixa" Foundation and, therefore, the Host Organization(s) shall continue to be responsible for the fulfillment of the obligations undertaken under the Agreement and in the Rules for Participation. The Host Organization(s) shall fully indemnify "la Caixa" Foundation against any liability that may arise from the creation or activity related to the Tax Equity Mechanism.

12. Dissemination rules

Should there be results that are protected or protectable and/or registered or registrable as intellectual/industrial property or any other type or mode as a result of the research carried out in the awarded Project within the framework of this Call, the Host Organizations agree to inform the "la Caixa" Foundation. Under no circumstances shall the "la Caixa" Foundation have any intellectual/industrial property rights over the results of the Project.

The "la Caixa" Foundation may also promote collaboration regarding the Project, which may include disclosing certain details (current or future) of the Project where relevant, in international, national, and/or regional media and/or by any other means deemed suitable. For this purpose, the general characteristics of the applications (including but not limited to the title of the Project, a brief description of it, the Host Organization name, and the name and professional bio of the Project Leader, Partner and/or other Team Members) may be published, without limitation, through press releases, emails, brochures and websites.

13. Grant management and other obligations of the Host Organization and the Project Leader (PL)

The Host Organization will manage and administer the amounts that the "la Caixa" Foundation allocates for the grant and will be responsible for distributing the budget to the other Partner Organizations, where applicable. To this end, the "la Caixa" Foundation may request Host Organizations to provide an audit report and/or statement, as well as any additional information, documentation and/or clarification that the "la Caixa" Foundation may deem pertinent to allow its auditors and/or advisors to evaluate the correct allocation of the grants awarded. The cost of this audit report and/or statement will be paid by the "la Caixa" Foundation, subject to prior approval of the corresponding budget, unless it detects irregularities, in which case the Host Organization will bear the cost.

13.2

Two follow-up meetings may take place during the Project: a midterm follow-up (half way from the beginning of the execution of the Project) and a final meeting (at the end of the Project). The "la Caixa" Foundation may ask the PL to provide a scientific-technical summary as well as any other information that the "la Caixa" Foundation deems necessary, or he/she must authorize the Host Organization to provide it before each of the meetings.

13.3

At the request of the "la Caixa" Foundation, the selected applicants must certify, with original or certified documents, the files and information included in the application. Likewise, the "la Caixa" Foundation may request the original certificates of any data mentioned in the application.

13.4

All applicants (including, but not limited to, awarded applicants) guarantee that the Projects comply with and will continue to comply with the applicable regulations and that the Projects (including, but not limited to, their proposal and eventual execution) do not infringe nor will infringe any rights of third parties, including, but not limited to, intellectual/industrial property rights and/or prior commitments or agreements. In this regard, all the applicants will hold the "la Caixa" Foundation harmless from and against any damages resulting from a breach of this guarantee.

The awarded Projects will be carried out as described in the proposal submitted to the Call, with no substantial modifications being allowed. Should any substantial modifications be required, these must be communicated to the "la Caixa" Foundation, and the "la Caixa" Foundation reserves the right to cancel or claim reimbursement of the grant depending on the nature and impact of the change at issue.

Nevertheless, any change shall be duly justified in the online system and will require its approval by "la Caixa" Foundation.

All awarded Projects will be regulated in an Agreement to be signed in English between the Host Organization and the "la Caixa" Foundation. Signing of the Agreement is a mandatory requirement to receive the grant and it shall provide the start date of the Project, which shall be, in any case, between September 1 and December 31 of the year of the resolution of the winners of the Call. The Agreement shall be signed before November 15 of the year of the resolution of the winners of the Call.

In no case may a PL have two Projects financed simultaneously by the "la Caixa" Foundation in which he/she is listed as a "PL".
